

I have come to attend the course to fulfill my promotion requirements and was not very encouraged by my colleagues to attend the program. Today I feel I could have missed a good opportunity if I have dropped it .I have also learnt how humor can be used as a strategy to improve student attention.

We were able to interact with learned resource persons from R&D organizations and institutions of national repute such a NRSC. Each topic was dealt by the persons who are authority in the field. I think we could get these benefits because of strategic location of this HRDC.

I am very much impressed by the infrastructure facilities and equipment here. It's totally a new experience for me. I will practice the principles learnt here and I'm confident that I could do my job better way and also better manage myself individually.

The course helped us refresh the idea of research, integrating research in teaching, Research Skills & curriculum changes. The key take away of the course for us are Project Proposal writing and effective presentation of Research Papers and online Searching tools available.

Participants of "Strategies for Research Oriented Teaching"

The course enlightened us towards learner centric teaching and helped me know how team work has to be incorporated in teaching. All the sessions were very much impressive and informative.
