"Programming for Problem Solving – A Pedagogical approach"
(22-07-2019 to 26-07-2019)

REPORT:

The AICTE sponsored Faculty Development Programme on "Programming for Problem Solving – A Pedagogical Approach" was conducted during 22-07-2019 to 26-07-2019.

A Total numbr of 44 participants have registered for the program, out of which 40 were successfully completed the program. The complete one week intensive program inducted better means and strategies to be followed by the teachers to enhance the teaching skills. The event included lectures from prominent teachers, entrepreneurs and researchers in the field of computer science.

All the aspects were covered starting with Introduction to programming for problem solving by Sandeep Wadha, CEO, Being Zero, Hyderabad followed by IDE, Tools and Structure of C by Simarjot Kaur, Being Zero alongside Sandeep Wadha.

The day 2 program focused to brush the basics of programming segmented into Operators and Expressions along with Conditional Branching and Looping addressed by Dr. Anujaneya Swami Kare, Associate Professor, HCU, Hyderabad and Basic algorithms on Sorting and Searching by Prof. Neil Gogte, Director, KMIT, Hyderabad.

More advanced topics for complex solution building involving Arrays and Strings were delivered by Dr.K.P. Supreethi, Assoc. Professor, Department of Computer Science and Engineering, JNTUHCEH, Hyderabad. Concepts like Functions and recursions to reduce the effort and lines of program which are also considered to be very important for overall performance and cost of any system were seamlessly explained by Sandeep Wadha on Day 3.

On Day 4, the proceedings continued with discussion on structures and unions, command line arguments and pre-processor directives by Sandeep. In the afternoon session, we had Dr. Kannan Srinathan, Assistant professor, IIIT-Hyderabad injecting his knowledge on Problem solving to the participant.

On the last day, penultimate topics of C- pointers were explained by Dr.Anjaneya Swami Kare and Dr. S. Nagendra Kumar dealing with File Handling.

All the Instructors pledged great dedication and commitment to push and satisfy the agenda to the best extend possible propelling the event towards success and attaining its described objective and purpose. We believe the event brings change in the format of teaching in a positive direction to further enhance the skills of students allowing easy transitioning to industry professionals.

REPORT:

The AICTE sponsored 5 - Day faculty development program (FDP) on "Research Methodology and IPR" was conducted at UGC – HRDC, Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University Hyderabad, Kukatpally, Hyderabad, during 05-09 August, 2019.

The major objectives of the Faculty Development Programme were:

- To understand the purpose of research and Identification of Research Problems
- How to do review of literature
- To make participants familiar with techniques of different research approaches
- Writing project proposals and awareness about funding opportunities for research scholars
- Facilitate researchers in writing thesis work
- To make the participants familiar with the patents, copy left and copy right etc.

A total number of 55 participants have registered for the program, out of which 40 were successfully completed the program.

The first day forenoon and post lunch sessions are on the topics "Identification of Research Problems" and "Types of Research & Scope" by Dr. S. Madhu, Professor, Dept. of Mechanical Engineering, Anurag Group of Institutions, Hyderabad.   The session mainly focused on the basic aspects of research, Types of Research on the basis of various parameters and characteristics.   He made the session interactive based on various examples for better understanding of the participants.   Afternoon second session is on "Data and its Relevance" by Dr. S. Ramacharan, Dept. of IT, G.
